

FINISH OF WPA JOBS IN SIGHT, ENGINEER SAYS

Hopes for New Federal Allocation to Provide Additional Work

100 ARE EMPLOYED
DURING WINTER

Work On Sewers, Water
Lines and Real Property
Inventory

Three Works Progress Administration projects which have been in operation in Salem throughout the winter, will probably be completed by the end of next week, City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff announced today.

A new federal allocation of funds which is anticipated for the Ohio work about May 15 will be the means of providing continued employment for WPA workers, Barckhoff intimated.

The water line project in the hillsides area is expected to reach its finish by early next week, the engineer said. The 40 men at work on that project, however, will trace their steps and add finishing touches.

The ground where the pipes were laid will be smoothed down to the former level.

The sanitary sewer project on Franklin, Bank and Granite streets where new eight-inch sanitary sewer pipe was laid by another group of 40 WPA laborers, has been completed, Barckhoff said.

Ten men have been transferred to the vicinity of City hospital where a short section of the Madison ave. water line remains to be completed. Severe cold weather during the winter forced temporary abandonment of this job.

A federal grant of $2,800 was received April 1 by local WPA officials with which to finish the above mentioned projects.

The sanitary sewer job entailed the laying of 2,870 lineal feet of eight-inch pipe. The city's cost in the $12,183 job was only $472, the engineer's figures reveal.

Cost of the hillsides improvement was placed at $11,226. The work was not set down.

Ahead on R. D. 1 Job

Twenty-five other men, whose names were obtained from relief headquarters, are three weeks ahead of schedule on a Real Property Inventory in the city, it was reported today by Elijah Gray, supervisor.

Gray said the enumeration work on the job which began March 9, had been completed and that the men now were making a survey which would reveal how land is used in the city.

Seventeen different maps, all in summary form, in addition to 16 sets of tables, will give a concise picture of the City of Salem from the R. P. I. standpoint, when completed, Gray added.

Wetzel To Address Sons of the Legion

Clarence Wetzel of Lisbon, county chairman of the American Legion, will address members of the Sons of the Legion at the regular meeting of the group at the Legion hall, East State st.

Wetzel will speak on "Americanism." The Sons of the Legion is sponsored by Charles H. Carey post No. 56.

Lisbon Lad Makes Trombone Do His Bidding

Paul Kuhns to Appear in Band Concert Program
Here Tuesday

Member of Lisbon High's
Ohio Class B Championship Band

A youngster who knows all about that long, rangy, agile musical instrument called the trombone will occupy a prominent spot on the feature numbers for the second annual Community band concert Tuesday night at the High school auditorium.

He will demonstrate just how a few well-placed puffs of wind, applied at the right time and place, will produce fast music, slow music, sweet or tantalizing, however you'll have it.

He is Paul Kuhns, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kuhns of Lisbon, and already a veteran musician, although still in high school.

He is a member of the Lisbon High school band, and this band, by the way, is just about the cream of the Class B high school bands of the state.

Paul has played for five years with the boys' band, recruited from youthful musicians from all over the state, at the Ohio State fair in Columbus.

His brother, Austin, is supervisor of music in the schools at Steubenville.

Paul will play two selections at Tuesday night's concert. His first is listed as "Castles in the Air" (Clay Smith) and his second, "Auld Lang Syne" (G. E. Holmes) with variations. He will be accompanied by Miss Jean Maxwell of Lisbon.

With the date of the contest set as May 22, all manuscripts for the annual Brooks contest will be submitted to Principal Wilbur Springer's office at Salem High school by 3:30 p. m. Friday, it was announced today.

The literary contest, conducted each year as the result of a fund set aside by the late Atty Charles T. Brooks, offers prizes for the students who best excel in one of four classifications.

They include:

The short story, essay (informal, familiar type), verse and oration. Cash prizes are the awards.

The manuscripts due tomorrow will be turned in for preliminary judging by faculty members. The entries will be pared to the best five in each group, Springer explained.

These 20 manuscripts then will be sent to the three final judges for decision. The principal pointed out that entries will be scrutinized this year for originality especially.

Rules of the contest provide that no manuscript shall exceed 1,000 words in length. However, no manuscript in verse shall have fewer than 24 nor more than 40 lines.

Pupils who may have taken first prize in a preceding contest may not enter the same division again, Springer said.

Any undergraduate of Salem High school who has passed at least three regular subjects the preceding semester and is passing in three subjects up to the date of the preliminary judging, may enter one manuscript in any division, but shall not compete in more than one event in the final contest.

TAFT DEMANDS FUND BALANCE, STABLE MONEY

Ohio's "Favorite Son" Candidate for Presidential Nomination Advances 16-Point Platform in Eastern Talk

LOOMS AS "DARK HORSE" ENTRY

Condemns "In Strongest Language to Be Found, Basic Philosophy of New Deal"; Asks "Hands-Off" Policy for Business

(By Associated Press)
CONCORD, N. H., April 30.—Robert A. Taft, Ohio's "favorite son" candidate for the Republican nomination for president, advanced today a 16-plank platform based on stabilization of the currency, a balanced budget, and a "hands-off" policy for business.

His address, prepared for delivery before the Women's Republican club of New Hampshire, was viewed by some of Taft's friends as a move to strengthen his position as a possible "dark horse" candidate for the presidential nomination in event the Republican convention became deadlocked.

Condemns New Deal
The first of Taft's 16 points called for condemnation "without qualification and in the strongest language to be found, of the basic philosophy of the New Deal."

Another plank called for turning back to local communities, with federal assistance, of the administration of relief.

Taft accused the present administration of failing to fulfill a promise to reduce the tariff "except in a minor way with reciprocal treaties, affecting an infinitely small amount of goods."

He urged a Republican plank calling for a temporary federal subsidy on crops, such as wheat and cotton, whose price is determined by the foreign market.

Included in the other 12 points in his platform, which include repudiation of a number of New Deal policies and qualified commendation of others, were such planks as:

Unhesitating approval of "The American constitutional system, the decisions of the supreme court of the United States which reaffirm that system and the general competitive business system."

Support of Sherman Act
Continued support of the principles of the Sherman act, prohibiting monopoly and maintaining free competition.

Endorsement of the child labor amendment.

Advocacy of a system of old-age pensions subsidized by the federal government but radical amendment of the present social security program.

Unhesitating promise to "proceed immediately to seek a stabilization of world currencies on a reasonable basis, and a return to the gold standard."

A pledge to balance the budget, principally by reducing expenditures, and if necessary by levying additional taxes on the principle of ability to pay.

Toledo Scott, Track Champ, Due Friday

Members of Squad To Be
Quartered at Homes
Of Salem Boys

Preparations for the largest Salem High school night relays ever held were in full swing today with W. J. Springer, high school principal and manager of the meet, directing last-minute activities.

The famed Toledo Scott squad, state champion and winner of the Ohio Wesleyan relays last Saturday, will arrive tomorrow. Members of the team will be guests at the homes of high school students Friday and Saturday nights, Springer said today.

Scott, favorite to capture the meet title, will bring 28 track and field stars to compete in the 18 events under the floodlights of Reilly stadium Saturday night.

Included in the aggregation of Toledo thinclads is Charles Walker, state broad jump champion and outstanding high-jumper and high jump star. In the Mansfield relays two weeks ago Walker tied with Joe Scott, Elyria's "one man track team," who will also participate in the nocturnal classic, for first in the high jump at 6 feet 1 inch.

Columbiana county's most promising performer in the meet will be Roy Switzer of East Palestine who so far this season has made a name for himself in the high hurdle and high jump events.

The clash between Walker and Switzer in the hurdle event is expected to be second in importance only to the appearance of Stella Walsh, winner of the women's 100-meter dash event in the 1932 Olympics, who will run an exhibition race against several of Cleveland's best girl athletes.

Led by Bob Curtis, state mile runner champion, Cleveland Shaw will bring its full team to defend its laurels won in the meet last year.

A revised list of entries announced by Springer today found 26 teams and some 400 athletes entered in the meet.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE MEETS

Four Items for Emphasis in 1936-37 Program
Discussed

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, April 30.—Four items for emphasis in the 1936-37 action program of the National League of Women Voters remained today for delegates to the twelfth national convention to approve, including downward revision of tariffs through reciprocal trade agreements.

Between sessions the 550 present filed into and out of a model voting booth to "practice what we preach" with a voting machine in elections of officers for the next two years. The league campaigned vigorously from the early days of its organization to substitute machines for the old tally method.

The remaining items for emphasis rounded out a 16-point program. Delegates committed themselves yesterday to take all action necessary to bring about the reforms detailed in the points when opportunities seemed best. No opposition was anticipated to speedy adoption of the four points.

In addition to the tariff item, they were:

"Sufficient and scientifically apportioned public funds for public education."

Units of school taxation and administration large enough for efficiency and economy, and

"Social security—unemployment compensation, old age assistance, and measures affecting children."

Marsilia To Sing In College Oratorio

Joseph Marsilia, formerly of Salem, now tenor soloist at the Church of the Covenant in Cleveland, will be one of four Cleveland soloists who will appear at Hiram college on May 9 in the performance of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah."

Marsilia has appeared in the Cleveland Severance Hall presentation of "Dre Resenkavaller" and has sung solo parts with the Singers club. He appeared last year at Hiram in the production of "The Seven Words of Christ."

The other Cleveland singers who will appear in the oratorio are Marcia Kenyon Bissell, soprano; Irene Beamer, contralto, and Frederic Lake, baritone. All have had stellar roles in the operas given at Severance Hall by the Cleveland Symphony orchestra. All are church soloists.

The "Elijah" will be given by the combined choral groups of Hiram college, the a capella choir, the men's glee club and the women's glee club, and a special Elijah chorus under the direction of George R. Howerton, J. Paul Kennedy will be accompanist.

Cleveland Suffers When Power Fails

CLEVELAND, April 30.—A municipal light plant breakdown shut off all light and power service to buildings, factories and homes in the plant's system for 23 minutes today.

Traffic snarls in the downtown area during the 9:30 a. m. rush hour resulted when signals failed to function. Scores of persons were imprisoned temporarily in elevators.

The police radio system was out of commission during the interval. Switchboard operators said the breakdown was due to a loose connection in the plant's power switchboard.

TAX BILL FALLS SHORT OF NEEDS

Morgenthau warns Senate
803 Million Won't
Be Enough

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 30.—Secretary Morgenthau warned the senate finance committee today that the $803,000,000 tax bill fell short of providing the revenue asked by President Roosevelt and urged reconsideration of the administration proposal for temporary processing taxes.

Appearing as the first witness as the finance committee opened hearings on the bill passed yesterday by a 297 to 93 house vote, the treasury chief said federal credit depended upon "scrupulous adherence to an orderly program looking to a balance of the federal budget just as soon as the needs and abilities of our people make that possible and thereafter upon a steady reduction in the public debt."

It was Morgenthau's first appearance on the controversial tax program which has been assailed by Republicans and some speakers at the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as offering a blow to re-employment and business recovery.

President Roosevelt's suggestion for temporary processing taxes did not even receive committee approval in the house.

Upholds Corporate Tax
Morgenthau, turning to the President's proposal for taxing corporations on a basis of percentages of undistributed incomes, center of the controversy over the tax measure, said it was merely an extension of the principle of "taxation according to ability to pay" which he said had "the undoubted and unquestioned endorsement and support of the citizens of this nation."

The treasury secretary, for the first time, however, disclosed that this new corporate tax plan, estimated to yield $620,000,000 annually in permanent revenue would raise only $310,000,000 for the first fiscal year.

PATROLMAN DIES FROM GUN WOUND

Iowa State Policeman succumbs After Injury In Gun Battle

(By Associated Press)
MUSCATINE, Ia., April 30.—State Highway Patrolman Oran H. Pape—former University of Iowa football star who proved as heroic in a gun battle as he was on the gridiron—succumbed early today to a wound inflicted by a bandit he killed.

The "climax runner" of the Hawkeye eleven died after an emergency operation and a blood transfusion a few hours after he slew Roscoe E. Barton, 23, in a hand-to-hand fight yesterday.

Pape, 28, encountered Barton on the highway near Fairport and stopped his car to investigate. As he approached, Barton drew a gun, ordered Pape into the car with him and started to drive away.

Pape grabbed for the pistol with which he was covered. Barton fired point blank, ripping a hole in the officer's abdomen.

Takes Weapon
The grid star wrested the weapon away and sent a bullet through the gunman's head.

With the aid of fingerprints, Pape's slain foe was identified as Barton by Police Chief Sam Kelly of Davenport, Ia., Barton's home. Kelly said Barton was involved in a robbery of the Davenport armory in 1934.

During his junior year, Pape's eligibility was questioned. He voluntarily admitted having played in a semi-professional game under an assumed name. He did not report for football in his senior year.

After his graduation in 1929 he played two seasons of professional football with the Portsmouth, O. team. He joined the highway patrol last year.

Policeman Killed

XENIA, April 30.—Internal injuries caused the death of William Johnson, 74, retired Dayton police sergeant, in a Xenia hospital yesterday shortly after the car in which Johnson was riding with James A. Bulky then said he would sell to Gongwer for $5 "all I get personally out of rentals paid by federal agencies in the Bulky building at present or for the next ten years."

Democratic Leader Replies to Charge

CLEVELAND, April 30.—W. Burr Gongwer, county Democratic leader, said he planned to mail today a certified check for $5 and a contract to U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley as an outgrowth of the fight for control of the Cleveland Democratic organization between Gongwer and Bulkley.

In a radio speech Monday Bulkley asserted Gongwer's leadership had been inefficient. Gongwer replied that tenants for the Bulky building in downtown Cleveland had been secured "through the influence of Mr. Bulkley with the national administration."

Bulky then said he would sell to Gongwer for $5 "all I get personally out of rentals paid by federal agencies in the Bulky building at present or for the next ten years."

AN EXPENSIVE PROPOSITION

Now is the time for all good states' rights men to come to the aid of their principles.

New Jersey legislators, who had decided to let the state's jobless shift for themselves, took second thought when ugly demonstrations began. They discovered suddenly it isn't possible to get rid of the unemployment problem by refusing to look at it. Some way, some time New Jersey will find a way to meet its responsibility.

New Jersey's experience is neither unexpected nor exceptional. Similar situations exist in Illinois and Missouri and may be foreseen in at least half the states in the union, including Ohio. Faced with the unpleasant necessity of resuming some of the burden which states shifted so eagerly to the federal government after 1933, legislators simply have proved they are afraid to try to raise the money at home.

Yet, most of them never miss a chance to shout about states' rights. It just happens, unfortunately, that one of the costliest items of sovereignty these days is public relief. When the federal government offers to meet the cost with its borrowing power it did more to undermine the principle of states' rights than a hundred years of ordinary actions could have done. The states tumbled over themselves to sell out and now they're frantically trying to keep from buying back the principle they claim to cherish.

The power of government is the power of the purse. The federal government is asking the states to take back some of their responsibilities. It will cost money, and state legislators would rather not remind their constituents that taxes must be heavier. That is another way of saying there is a price to pay for states' rights. Are the politicians willing to tell the people they must be bought back at a considerable cost?

OUT IN FRONT

Tuesday's primary voting in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania demonstrated two points about presidential politics in 1936. Gov. Landon has tremendous popular strength in one of the industrial eastern states. President Roosevelt's popularity is, to all intents and purposes, 100 percent among organized, active Democrats.

There is nothing new about either of the two facts. Yet, certain gentlemen are acting as though they hadn't discovered the extent of Gov. Landon's popularity, not only in Massachusetts but throughout the United States. It seems almost as though they didn't realize it is a case of Landon against the field for the Republican nomination.

There is talk of a "stop Landon" movement, of a dark horse candidate, of plots and schemes, of a struggle for influence—of all kinds of mysterious things. Some of it is interesting; all of it is strange. Gov. Landon proved 10 times as popular as his nearest rival in Massachusetts and five times as popular as all other candidates together. True, he had an active organization and the other candidates didn't, but that accounts for only part of his popularity.

On a basis of the record of candidates for the presidency since 1836, when the convention system was established, Gov. Landon has two chances against one of winning the Republican nomination. On 11 occasions, there have been candidates leading by a wide margin despite formidable opposition. Seven times the favorite has won the nomination. Four times the opposition has won.

Seasoned gamblers don't take many chances with two-to-one bets.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, April 30—Fred Stone, riding the crest again after 60, in still another amusement field, should be, and doubtless is, an inspiration to performers who believe the years have washed them up. Many believe Stone will receive the sort of adulation accorded Marie Dressler.

Two pictures catapulted him to stardom and the enormous pay that is so generously Hollywood. A candid view is that Stone as a stage player was through. His type of show had gone into discard along with his particular style of comedy. His audience appeal was largely sentimental.

However, he did not reach the end of the road with the usual Thespian distress. He was comfortably fixed and had launched his three talented daughters, Dorothy, Paula and Carol, on footlight careers. He might have easily called it a day and retired to a porch rocker in Forest Hills.

A character study in his last short-lived play was the turning point. It whetted the studio scouts and, coupled with a rousing plug from his old friend, Will Rogers, resulted in a tempting offer. Directors soon sensed his versatility and the result was inevitable.

Thingumabobs: Phil Simms, European reporter, was the first dramatic critic in America to sport a white-lined Inverness. King Edward thinks no desert tops the Yankee version of Floating Island. Earl Carroll smoked his first cigar when 30, and they had to carry him out of a night club feet up. Ina Claire was once a chorus girl in the last row of the Follies. Claire Luce has decided to make London her permanent home and has bought a house in Sussex. Dorothy Knapp, once billed as the most beautiful girl in the world, is a sculptress and lives in Tudor City. Cobina Wright is giving singing lessons to Doris Duke Cromwell.

The Reader's Digest, which has in a short while made a snug fortune for its owner, DeWitt Wallace, breaks from the long established custom of magazines that live by quoting from others without pay. The Digest pays for everything it uses and for which it gives credit. Thus providing the windfall of unexpected checks to which writers are totally unaccustomed. Wallace's income is $105,000 a year.

Karl Bickel, one of the few newspapermen to retire at the peak of his career, has become, next to John Ringling, the best known citizen of Sarasota, Florida. His home is one of the show places. Built originally as a private office for Ringling, it has been converted into a rambling Spanish structure absolutely authentic in appointments. The tiles and fountain are from Triana just outside Seville and the woodwork, ceilings, lamps, etc., have been as carefully selected in the land of the Don.

No modern artist ever received such an enormous shot of publicity as Arthur William Brown in the Saturday Evening Post story by Katharine Brush. Somehow personality stories rarely immortalize the illustrator. Miss Brush's finished piece ran around 9,000 words. The magazine regretted but it must be edited to 5,000. Miss Brush protested vigorously but the magazine was adamant. The editors were sorry but they wouldn't give more than 5,000 words to El Greco or Raphael. Incidentally, Brown and James Montgomery Flagg are the youngest looking men for their years in the passing celebrity parade.

Among latest of the feminine heart draws is this time an expert billiardist. The young amateur Edmund Soussa from Cairo, Egypt, who became expert on the only table in Cairo, an abandoned one in the house of an uncle. He has been playing in tournaments in and around New York to audiences that for the first time in history have a large women attendance. They come to see him—a tall, dark and mysterious looking Oriental, as impassive as the Sphinx which was his boyhood neighbor. He has also distinguished himself in the Paris salons as a painter of portraits and landscapes.

Another lady killer, who is filling the baseball grandstands with feminine loveliness, is Jimmy Fox, Tom Yawkey's $250,000 first baseman. The Clark Gable of the diamond, he has blue eyes, brown skin, mile-wide shoulders and extraordinary dimples. The feminine clut at the exit gate to see him is like the Ziegfeld stagedoor days.

Thingumabobs: Joseph P. Day, the auctioneer, who never wears an overcoat never has a cold. Amy Vanderbilt is the first of the Vanderbilt clan to become a publicity director. Owen Wister's son, Owen Jr., and William are inseparable companions. Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean is being sought for a night club hostess-ship in the East 50's. THE STARS SAY

For Friday, May 1

This may prove to be a day of bafflement, surprise and mystery, judging by the planetary configurations. There may be angles of a mental, emotional or spiritual nature which may incite perplexity and doubt, with some difficulties, although in these there may be ready counsel and support from friends or elders. Offsetting this uncertainty and anxiety, employment holds high promise of advancement, favors and the preferment of superiors and those in authority.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year that may prove doubtful and mystifying, with curious angles difficult to understand or negotiate. Friends and elders may be counted on for good advice and sympathetic understanding. In employment be assured of progress, favors and the confidence of superiors and those in power and influence.

A child born on this day may be sensitive, impressionable, emotional, possibly visionary and given to the mysterious or curious.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Nervous Twitches

Many a mother is unnecessarily alarmed about muscular twitchings or nervous movements of a child. These jerks are medically known as "habit tics." In most instances they can be prevented if medical attention is obtained, particularly at the onset of the disturbance.

For years there has been an erroneous belief that many of these nervous twitches are due to some impairment of the brain. In reality, the disorder can be traced to some disturbance of the nervous system, or a reflex from some physical disability.

Habit tics are frequently observed in children between the ages of six and 12 years. No doubt you have seen these same purposeless movements in adults. In most instances the facial muscles are involved and the victim unconsciously winks an eye, or draws the mouth to one side.

As a rule this habit is developed in early childhood and unless corrective measures are taken it may persist through adult life. It is important to bear in mind that such nervous spasms must not be confused with the spasms that accompany certain constitutional diseases. For example, a child who is afflicted with St. Vitus dance is a victim of muscular spasms. These spasms differ from habit tics in that they are uncontrollable and rarely follow a definite habit pattern. That is, it may attack a leg at one time and the next time it may be in the face or neck. It is not always a movement of the same sort.

It Is Curable

I venture to say that a goodly number of persons believe habit tic to be incurable. They point to some other member of the family who has the same habit and therefore conclude it must be an hereditary and an incurable affliction. This is not so.

The victim of a habit tic requires training and teaching of self-control. Of course, every source of irritation must be removed. It may be necessary to consult with a psychiatrist, to make sure the child is not obsessed with some fear or has some form of mental abnormality. Every effort should be made to improve the general health. The child should be given an abundance of fresh air and sunshine. The diet should be varied and well-balanced, containing an abundance of fresh fruits, vegetables, milk, cereal, cream, butter and eggs. During the winter months or long continued cloudy weather, it is advisable to give cod liver oil to the child.

Adequate hours of rest and play are essential. The meals should be served at regular hours. There should be no distracting and exciting play during meal time and during the periods of relaxation. The very young child should be encouraged to take a daily afternoon nap. I cannot overstate the importance of medical attention for the child who shows any tendency toward excessive nervousness. This may be a temporary condition, but if neglected it may lead to chronic nervousness in adult life.

Mexico Hopes for Future Peace

Plutarco Elias Calles

President Lazaro Cardenas

Calles in exile at daughter's home

The same political storm that swept former President Plutarco Elias Calles into exile in United States, perhaps forever, appears to have left in its wake a Mexico hopefully facing a long period of comparative tranquility. President Lazaro Cardenas' drastic order for deportation of the former "strong man of Mexico" seems to have cleared up a tense situation which began with the return of Calles from voluntary exile six months ago. Calles found that his former political ally, by the simple expedient of giving the people some of the things which Calles had promised them when he was in power but had not fulfilled, has established himself in an impregnable position. Cardenas foresaw the inevitable showdown which must result if Calles remained in Mexico. He anticipated the situation by his order deporting the former "strong man". It may be that this sudden turn in Mexican politics will mark the beginning of a more tranquil era and one more prosperous for the nation at large.

Novel Fabrics Mark New Summer Fashions

Velvet will go to the beaches this summer and wool to the ballroom for designers have turned the fashion world topsy-turvy and decreed bathing suits in the new wash velvet and evening gowns of a sheer wool which is as pliable as chiffon. One of the smart new beach suits is shown at the left, a red-tinge coat and play suit of printed linen to match. An interesting example of the shirt and skirt influence appears at the right. The blouse is of pleated canary yellow chiffon and the skirt of gray crepe. White is favored by many stylists for resort wear, the suit modeled by the feminine bridge fan, center, being in white with pipings of Roman striped silk. Novel fabrics are also featured in the new creations, which are also distinguished by their unusual color combinations.

HOME MAKING HELPS

Nothing, not even clothes, tells the story of the happiness and blithe charm of spring as do the shops devoted to house and garden furnishings.

New furniture for terrace, porch and garden is most attractive and very practical. Like with many of the new fashions, the inspiration of the gay nineties is manifest.

This year's Gibson girl will sip her cooling drinks seated on chair or bench of wrought iron, done in all sorts of interesting and intricate designs and painted white or in some unusual color, such as navy blue. Indeed, white with navy blue promises to be a big garden number this summer and we are all for this color scheme.

Wrought Iron Sofas
There are sofas of wrought iron with cushions of various colors done into a mattress-like roll. Tables of wrought iron and glass done in all sorts of designs and shapes will take their stand by chairs to form pleasing groups.

One lovely porch piece that we particularly admired is a combination bird cage and flower stand done in gilded wrought iron and glass.

Then there is a set of wrought iron garden furniture with a demure Victorian air that we found fascinating. The chairs and sofa have high backs done in a lovely shell design and there is a round table with the wrought iron done in a scalloped design with glass.

But it isn't all wrought iron, and won't be as long as bamboo continues to be fashioned into such handsome furniture as is the case this year. Not only bamboo furniture, but handsome bamboo accessories are on display this year. A handsome bamboo lamp with shade of natural-colored linen makes a splendid accessory for the porch or for any room for the summer. So does a screen fashioned of strips of bamboo placed horizontally.

Many of us do not think it an undue extravagance to put away our winter china and splurge with a set of glass or china ware keyed to summer and used with colorful linens.

We saw some bluish glass, opaque, ringed in white and made into plates with a matching vase that would make any luncheon table.

Mother, Daughter Banquet At M.E. Church Success

Places were arranged for 210 mothers and daughters last night at the annual Mother and Daughter banquet in the Methodist church, given by the Women's organization.

The dinner, served at 6:30 p. m., was in charge of a boy's committee headed by Roy West. Tables were beautifully decorated with daffodils and other spring flowers and lighted with tall yellow tapers. Tiny May poles with colored streamers were favors at each place.

Music before and during the dinner was offered by Miss Marie Callahan, xylophonist, accompanied by Mrs. Loren Early; Miss Elizabeth Snyder and Jean Olenhausen, violinists, with Miss Margaret Kirkbride at the piano.

Toastmistress for the delightful affair was Mrs. R. E. Smucker, who introduced the entertainers and speaker, Miss Kathryn Taylor and Lela Naragon played two trumpet duets, "Sunset, the Hills and You," by England, and "Love's Old Sweet Song." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Early.

Greetings to Daughters

Mrs. Ward Eckstein gave the greeting to the daughters, paying tribute to them in a charming original poem, "To a Daughter." Little Mary Byers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Guy E. Byers, responded, extending a greeting to mothers.

Vocal selections were "Homing" by Riego, and "A Little Coo's Prayer," sung by Mrs. Charles Gibson, formerly Eleanor Tolerton of Salem. Mrs. F. J. Stoudt accompanied Mrs. Gibson.

A most interesting account of life in Latin America was given by Mrs. Frances Blackburn McCarter of Twinsburg, a teacher for several years in a girls' school in Lima, Peru. Mrs. McCarter went to Lima in 1922, where she taught for four years. After her marriage she made her home in Argentina and later in Mexico. After four years in Mexico she returned to the United States two years ago. Mrs. McCarter is a friend and schoolmate of Mrs. H. J. Thompson and of Rev. and Mrs. Sidney A. Mayer, formerly of Salem, now in Willoughby.

Mrs. McCarter described the life of the people in Latin American countries, particularly stressing the life of women and girls there, as compared with the life of American women and girls. She told interesting and amusing stories of her experiences when she first went to Lima and told listeners that there is absolutely no racial barrier there. She said that there is a great mixture of different blood in the people but no racial distinctions. She praised the unfailing charm and courtesy of Latin American women and girls, their graciousness and hospitality.

Mrs. McCarter described the homes and many customs of the people and told of the work that is being done to better the life of women in South American lands and Mexico, through the schools and religious institutions.

Three members of the Methodist choir, Mrs. Loren Early and Mrs. Thompson and Miss Ethel Shears, entertained with two vocal trio numbers, "The Nightingale Song" and "When Grandmother Dreams."

They were accompanied by Miss Kirkbride.

Gifts presented by Mrs. Smucker to the oldest mother in attendance, the youngest mother, the one with the most daughters present and the youngest daughter present.

Mrs. Maria Sproat, who will be 90 in October, was the oldest mother present. Mrs. Sproat's husband, J. M. Sproat, who died several years ago, was chairman of the building committee when the present Methodist church was built.

Mrs. G. E. McConnell of the Albany rd., was the youngest mother; Mrs. E. F. Naragon had four daughters present, and little four-year-old Shirley Beck was the youngest daughter. Gifts were presented to the mothers and daughters, and Mrs. H. J. Thompson sang "Mother Macabree," accompanied by Mrs. Early.

Mrs. Smucker presented Mrs. McCarter a bowl of lovely iris and daffodils. She introduced Mrs. R. A. Miller, president of the Women's organization of the church, who made a few remarks, thanking committees, chairmen and speakers for their help in arranging the banquet.

Co-eds Frown on Artificiality

Six movie starlets demonstrate technique of makeup.

Latest news on the paint and powder situation comes from campuses throughout the United States which report an increasing aversion among the students toward the co-ed who has obviously "gilded the lily." Modern male youth looks with disapproval on the young lady who uses her cosmetic kit with abandon. So the fashion of the flapper era, when cheeks, lips and eyebrows were done in most artificial style is now taboo. Diet and health exercise are supplementing cosmetics in the lexicon of modern beauty experts. But this trend does not mean that the quest for beauty is any less fervent with milady. Billions are spent on powder, creams, coiffures and other beauty aids. The art of cosmetology has grown to such proportions that today it is something of a science with laboratory research and experimentation constantly being carried on.

FILE DETAINERS IN HEWITT CASE

California Officials Move
To Bring Mrs. Hewitt
To Trial

TRENTON, N. J., April 30 — Surrender of Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt to California authorities refused by Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, San Francisco prosecuting officials were expected today to file detainers against her as the next move in their attempt to return her for trial on her daughter's sterilization charges.

In denying the extradition request, Governor Hoffman wrote Gov. Frank P. Merriam of California that Mrs. Hewitt, now a patient in a Jersey City hospital, must face a suicide charge in this state before she will be permitted to depart.

Mrs. Hewitt, who was the wife of the late Peter Cooper Hewitt, wealthy inventor, took an overdose of sedative and police charged she had tried suicide. She was admitted to the hospital in February and since has been reported in a serious condition by her physician. Her daughter, Ann, charged the mother had two surgeons sterilize her 11 months before she would have been old enough to marry without parental consent. The girl said her mother sought to control the income of a $10,000,000 trust fund.

DUCE'S TROOPS REPORT GAINS

Italy's Offensive Causes Selassie To Confer With U. S. Aid

(By Associated Press)
The Italian offensive toward Addis Ababa reached the high plateau before the Ethiopian capital as Emperor Haile Selassie reappeared in the city to confer with the United States minister-resident to the Negus' kingdom.

Press dispatches received at Rome reported the forces of Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio within artillery shot of the city. An unconfirmed dispatch said the advance guard of the blackshirts had entered the capital at 10 a. m. today.

The population of the capital was thrown into a panic by reports the Fascist troops were near. But the emperor, who has entrusted order in the city to 10,000 policemen under the mayor, asserted:

"Ethiopia is not defeated. It will carry on its fight to the last man." Badoglio officially reported the occupation by his southern soldiers of Sasa Bench, gateway to Harar, second city of the empire.

Until his sudden return to the capital, toward which Italian troops were pressing in a long military parade, the whereabouts of the emperor had been a mystery to the public.

LOVERS' QUARREL ENDS WITH SHOT

Young Actress Shoots Herself After Spat With Suitor

NEW YORK, April 30.—A lovers' quarrel between an 18-year-old actress, Doris Dudley, and Sidney Kingsley, the play-wright, punctuated by a rifle shot that wounded her in the chest, was patched up today in a hospital room.

The shooting occurred in the apartment of the young creator of "Dead End", current Broadway hit. Police said the wound was self-inflicted and reported finding a "farewell" note she had written. They withheld its contents.

Mrs. Dudley's father, Blide Dudley, the drama critic, however, said a physician assured him there was no evidence the young actress had attempted suicide. He added: "Mr. Kingsley possesses several rifles and the explanation of the accident is that they were examining some of the guns and the one in Doris' hands went off unexpectedly."

The wound was superficial and, within a few hours after the shooting, Miss Dudley and Kingsley were reunited at her room at York hospital. It was said she will return to her role in "End of Summer" in a few days.

MAN CONFESSES JEWEL ROBBERY

Also Admits Slaying Of Police Officer In Indianapolis

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 30.—Police Sgt. Sol Corsi said today Al Bordon, 31, of Indianapolis, had confessed slaying Police Sgt. Richard Rivers at Indianapolis Monday and had admitted participating in a $15,000 jewel robbery the same day at Lima, Ohio.

Also under arrest were Jack Becker, 31, of Chicago, whom Sergeant Corsi declared was named by Bordon as having disposed of jewelry for the robbers; his wife, Laura, 21; William Giftman, 26, a jewelry salesman, and Bordon's common-law wife, Margaret, 23.

Sergeant Rivers was shot when he entered a physician's office where four men had gone to obtain medical treatment for one of their number, who was suffering from a gunshot wound.

Bordon Is Leader
Sergeant Corsi named Bordon as the leader of the gang. He said the arrests were made yesterday in a raid on a northwest side apartment.

Bordon surrendered quietly. Sergeant Corsi said, and no weapons were found in his room.

Sergeant Corsi said a second man sought as one of those present at the slaying of Rivers was hunted in Chicago, but declined to name the suspect.

He said Bordon told him the Lima robbery loot was turned over to Becker for disposal and admitted taking part in other robberies at Dayton, and Indianapolis. Giftman was quoted as informing the police he was only visiting with Becker when arrested and Sergeant Corsi did not disclose whether the police sought to link the salesman with the gang.

PROBLEMS FACE M. E. DELEGATES

Unification With Other Branches Taken Into Consideration

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Delegates to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church arrived today to find their legislative hoppers filled with problems which must be settled during the 22-day meeting that opens tomorrow.

Heading the list were the question of unification with two other branches of Methodism, and consideration of a convention report of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, demanding that the conference assume leadership in social and economic affairs.

Bishop Edwin N. Hughes of Washington, the senior bishop of the church, opens the first business session.

Steers Program
Dr. Harry F. Ward of the Union Theological seminary, New York, secretary of the Federation for Social Service, steered through a one-day convention yesterday a program which observers said was expected to produce bitter debate on the conference floor.

The federation program advocated church support of a plan to substitute planned social economy for the existing profit system. Conservative groups led by the Methodist Laymen's conference rallied today to defeat the federation, whose members some of the conservatives labeled "Methodist reds."

Dr. M. A. Dawber of Philadelphia, rural secretary for the missions board, and members of his federation committee prepared for presentation to the conference a memorial asking that a commission be appointed to investigate salaries paid full-time ministers.

"The Methodist church has 6,307 full-time ministers today who are paid less than $1,000 a year," he said.

Theater Attractions

Ballets are stories told through the medium of motion. Perhaps the first mode of expression by primitive man, the dance is one of the most complex, despite its origin. Consequently, a great ballet is exceedingly difficult to execute and even more difficult to conceive.

In Warner Bros. "A Midsummer Night's Dream," at the State theater Friday afternoon and night, there are two great ballets conceived by the producer, Max Reinhardt, and the two famous ballerinas, Nijinska and Theilade. These are the "Nocturnal" and the "Scherzo."

The "Nocturnal" is the story of the wood creatures who are only happy in the moonlight and who desperately fight off the approach of darkness.

The lovers in the story are asleep in the woods when suddenly Puck appears, heralding the approaching departure of the moonlight. Then begins a strange, exciting commotion in the forest. There is rustling everywhere as the creatures of the night protest in vain and scurry hither and yon.

Across the meadows comes Oberon, King of the Fairies. He stands in a dark chariot, drawn by four black horses, his long plumed mantle stretching far behind him. Close to him lie countless dark elves and night creatures, with white ecstatic faces. Behind them the fairies are poised for flight. A swirling mass of green figures prowls along the edge of Oberon's mantle, seeking protection.

Then, from nowhere comes a startling iridescent creature, bright as moonlight itself. He flutters more and more anxiously, circling around the sleeping mortals and finally takes refuge beside her own Fairy Queen, Titania, who is also asleep. This is Nina Theilade, protégé of, and successor to, Pavlova, and herself premiere danseuse of Europe.

Darkness comes on, inexorably, and the ballet becomes an intense dramatic struggle. Then Darkness itself, an awesome creature, wearing a dark, murky veil, emerges from the woods and attempts to woo Theilade. She tries to flee, but he throws the veil over her and, at last, she is forced to succumb. The dark creature lifts her high—the light fades from her body and face—shadows recede from her outstretched arms and she is swallowed up in darkness.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 30.—John B. Lowry, fugitive from central prison, where he was serving a 10 to 15-year term for burglary, fulfilled his promise to return and complete his sentence, but not of his own volition.

"I am coming back anyway," he declared upon arrival at the prison to which he was sentenced April 2, 1925.

Hank Greenberg Fractures Wrist And Detroit Recalls Rudy York From Minors

Tigers In Desperate Position of Having to Answer Question, "What Will Happen To Club When Luck Begins To Break Wrong?"

When this major league baseball season rolls down to the world series, the experts may point back to yesterday's game in explanation of the final result.

Most significant in a day of extraordinary happenings was Hank Greenberg's collision with young Jake Powell of the Washington Senators, in which the big Detroit first baseman fractured his left wrist.

Today the Tigers were in the desperate position of having to answer the question that has been thrown at them for the past two seasons: What will happen to your club when luck breaks wrong?

Manager Coghane was expected to recall from Milwaukee Rudy York, the young first baseman who looked so good in the Tigers' camp this spring when Greenberg was injured in New York's Bronx waiting for the management to raise his salary.

Paramee Outstanding

Outstanding among superlative pitching performances in other games was Leroy Paramee's 17-inning six-hit, 2-1 victory for the Cardinals over the New York Giants.

In picking the Cards and the Cubs to battle it out for this year's National league pennant, the experts have agreed that the success or failure of Paramee would be the success or failure of the Cardinals.

Yesterday's performance should throw some light on the question.

Though he lost, Carl Hubbell gave the Cards only 11 hits in the 17 frames, which is pretty good pitching when the St. Louis crew pitches for 10 times in an afternoon.

Other pitching performances of the day included Pete Appleton's 7-3 victory for Washington over the Tigers. Bill Lee's four-hit 1-0 win over the four-hit pitching of Van Lingle Mungo of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Lefty Grove's three-hitter over the Cleveland Indians, which dropped the Tribe from first to third in the American league. The score of this one was 6-1.

Red Sox Win

While so many extraordinary things were stealing the show, Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox, 8-7, and regained first place in the American league.

The only other game in the majors was played by the Phillies and the Pirates and ended in an anti-climax in the 11th inning when Pitcher Bucky Walters intentionally walked two men to fill the bases and in the process got into the habit of throwing wild and Hit Gus Suhr, Pirates' first baseman, forcing in the winning run. The score was 10-9.

Yesterday's STARS

LEFTY GOMEZ, Yankees—Tumbled the Indians from first to third place in the American by letting them down with three hits.

BILL LEE, Cubs, and VAN LINGLE MUNGO, Dodgers—Pitched four-hitters against each other, the former winning 1-0, and the latter losing when his hit, driving in the tying run, hit a runner on base and retired the side.

PETE APPLETON, Senators—Allowed Tigers only two hits and won, 7-3.

RICK FERRELL, Red Sox—His single with bases loaded drove Red Sox to a win over Chicago and put his team in first place.

LLOYD WANER, Pirates—His double paved way for Pirates' winning rally over Phils.

DUSTY RHODES, Athletics—He shut out the Browns for eight innings and finally won, 7-4.

LEROY PARAMEE, Cardinals—Pitched six-hit 17-inning ball game to beat the Giants, 2-1.

DETROIT FACES TOUGH PROBLEM

Mickey Cochrane wonders How to Win Ball Games Without Greenberg

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Mickey Cochrane, pilot of the world champion Detroit Tigers, today faced one of his toughest managerial problems—how to win ball games without Hank Greenberg.

The lank first baseman—voted the most valuable player in the American League last year—will be out of the lineup for at least a month with the wrist fracture he suffered in yesterday's game with the Washington Nationals.

Admitting his team sustained a setback worse than a string of losses when Jake Powell, fleet Washington centerfielder, collided with Greenberg's outstretched arm, Cochrane added optimistically that the club's pitching and hitting would keep it near the top of the league.

Mickey said he was undecided whether to continue the combination of Marvin Owen at first base and English at third, or to recall Rudy York who hit well with the Bengals in spring training, from the minor league to which he was farmed.

Pottery Softball Players to Meet

Members of the Pottery softball team will meet at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. tomorrow to discuss uniforms and other matters pertaining to their participation in the Class A league this season.

The first practice for the team is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at Centennial park.

Retains Title

MINNEAPOLIS, April 30.—Jay Ankrom, Detroit, retained his national amateur three-cushion billiards championship last night by beating Chet Vandover, Minneapolis challenger, 50-40, in the third block of their 150-point titles match. The final score was 150 to 125.

WESTERN CLUBS OF A. A. STRONG

Headed for Great Season If First Eastern Trip Is Any Indication

CHICAGO, April 30.—If the outcome of the first swing through the eastern end of the American association is a sample of what is to come, the western clubs are headed for a great season collectively.

The western teams were back to their own ballparks today, awaiting tomorrow's home openers, enjoying a 2-to-1 edge over the east. The Kansas City Blues were in first place with nine victories and two defeats, the rejuvenated St. Paul club followed with 10 victories in 14 starts, and Minneapolis' defending champions followed with seven wins and four defeats. Only Milwaukee failed to work up a victory margin in the initial jaunt, but the Brewers came back with a draw—six victories in 12 games.

All of which added up to 32 decisions for the west against 16 reverses.

Burlingame Grimes' Louisville (Ky.) Colonels had the best record of the eastern nines, winning six and losing nine games. Columbus won four out of 13, and Indianapolis and Toledo won three each on their home grounds against six and eight defeats, respectively.

The league-leading Blues will go on display for the first time of the season before home fans with Toledo as the opposition. St. Paul will entertain Columbus, with Indianapolis at Minneapolis, and Louisville at Milwaukee.

"THERE'S MURDER IN THE AIR"

by ROY CHANSLOR

SYNOPSIS

Beautiful Ruth Tyler, blind daughter of former District Attorney Daniel Tyler, is psychic and foretells murders, but is powerless to reveal enough information so that the tragedies can be averted. These manifestations occur while Ruth, a talented musician, plays her violin—and always at night. The girl becomes terror-stricken and suddenly this strange power grips her. Her father enlists the aid of Dr. Jan Karase, noted psychiatrist, but as Karase is working on another case, he sends his young assistant, Nat Benson, to study the girl. Nat is introduced to Ruth as the son of her father's college chum, in the city on a visit. One night, when Ruth has a spell, Nat prevents Tyler from trying to soothe her, with the result her vision is keener than ever and she is able to reveal the name of the person marked for death. This time it is Paul Y. Gordon, an international banker. Nat telephones Gordon, warning him his life is in danger. Next morning, Nat Tyler and Ruth, enroute to keep an appointment with Gordon, come upon Doris Gordon trying to get her car started. Nat offers her a lift.

CHAPTER VIII

Nat opened the rear door, and the girl climbed in beside Ruth and Tyler. Tyler introduced Ruth, Nat and himself, and Nat started the car.

"I hope you're expected," said Doris Gordon.

"I believe we are," said Tyler. "That's good," said Doris. "Because you'd just have the trip for nothing if you weren't. Dad hardly sees anybody these days. I say, it's lucky you came along. I don't mind walking, but not in these shoes."

"It must be fun to drive your own car," Ruth said.

"You don't drive?" said Doris incredulously, turning to Ruth.

"No," said Ruth, smiling. "You see, I'm blind."

"I say," said Doris, astonished. "Oh, I'm terribly sorry. I didn't mean—I'd never have guessed."

"Few people do at first," said Ruth composedly.

There was a long silence as the car forged powerfully ahead. Nat guessed that Doris was embarrassed and a little ill at ease. He began to talk, casually, over his shoulder. He felt the tension ease.

"Here we are," said Doris presently.

The big house gleamed in the sunshine. There were several smaller buildings to the rear, garages, stables, two houses that looked like employees' cottages. A broad white roadway wound up from the main road.

A closed gate barred their entrance. A man leaped out of the small lodge by the gate and stared at them. Doris waved to him, and the gate opened. Nat drove inside and stopped as the man came out of the lodge. He was a hard-looking customer, and he peered at them narrowly.

"Mr. Tyler and party," Doris expected him.

"Okay," said the man. He waved them by, and returned to his post. Nat drove to the main entrance of the house. A man came around the side of the building, a burly fellow with a heavy-jowled face. Nat thought that neither he nor the man at the gate looked like the typical employees of a multimillionaire. They looked pretty tough, both of them.

"Mr. Tyler and party," Doris cried, opening the door. She alighted, and the burly man told Nat to stop. Tyler helped Ruth from the car, and they followed the man to the door. The man announced them by telephone. The door opened, and he nodded for them to go up.

He remained outside, closing the door after them. At the top of the stairs they were met by a middle-aged man of a different type, obviously a servant. He bowed.

"Yes," said Tyler.

"This way, sir," said the man. He showed them into a sunny sitting-room, seated them and disappeared through a door on the other side of the room.

"I say," said Tyler, "this is a strange place."

"Like a regular fort," said Nat. "And did you get a look at those two plug-uglies who met us?"

"They certainly looked like thugs," said Tyler.

Across the room the door opened, and a vigorous-looking man of fifty-four or five, wearing a loosely comfortable old tweed jacket and gray flannel slacks, appeared, adjusting his glasses. The door was closed behind him.

On the other side of it stood the servant who had admitted the visitors. Beside him was the burly man who had directed them upstairs. He held an automatic pistol in his hand. The two men stood close to the door, poised, listening.

Gordon advanced into the sitting room, with a smile.

"Ah," he said, "Mr. Tyler?"

"Yes," said Tyler. "How do you do, Mr. Gordon?"

The men shook hands, and Tyler introduced Ruth and then Nat. Gordon peered at him a moment, then extended his hand with a half-smile.

"You routed me out at a devilish hour, Mr. Benson," he said.

"Sorry," said Nat. "But we thought the matter was urgent."

"I dare say," Gordon. "Sit down." Gordon indicated chairs, and they sat, facing the bright windows. He himself took a chair with his back to the window, so that he could watch their faces closely while his own was in shadow. Tyler smiled. It was an old trick he'd learned in the District Attorney's office. In a sense he knew they were all on trial before the keen-eyed banker.

Gordon looked at them quietly for a moment. Then he said, inquiringly, "Well?"

"I must ask your indulgence for a rather roundabout introduction to the point," said Tyler. "But it's necessary, if you are to understand, that I start at the beginning. My daughter Ruth, as you must have noticed is blind."

"Eh?" said Gordon, astonished.

Ruth smiled, and Tyler went on with the story. He told of Ruth's talent for the violin, her studies abroad, the sheltered conditions of her life. Then he brought in her first troubled experiences. Gordon listened politely, but with a puzzled frown on his face. In detail Tyler related the occurrences on the night of the attempt on the life of the President-elect.

Gordon said nothing, beyond an involuntary exclamation or two, but he kept his eyes on Ruth, who sat serene and at ease, listening to her father speak. When Tyler had finished, he sat back, watching the financier's face.

"This is extraordinary," said Gordon after a moment's pause. "Very interesting. But what has it got to do with me?"

"I am coming to that," said Tyler. "I have told you how Ruth was able to pick up the hate of this man Zangara, his determination to kill Mr. Roosevelt. How she knew when the shots were fired, realized that the assassin had failed in his attempt to shoot Mr. Roosevelt but had struck others, a woman and Mayor Cermak included. We have said nothing of this to anyone except Dr. Jan Karase, the well-known psychologist. We don't want any notoriety. But now we feel that we must speak to you. Because my daughter knows that some one is planning to kill you."

"Ah," said Gordon, softly. "She has—ah—picked this up out of the air, as it were?"

"Yes," said Tyler.

Gordon regarded the girl keenly. "I see," he said. "Ah, who, may I ask, is this would-be assassin?"

"I don't know," said Ruth.

"All that she has been able to get is this fierce determination to kill you," said Nat, speaking for the first time. "We thought we should warn you. So that you can—"

"Quite," said Gordon, interrupting. "I'm grateful, of course. As a matter of fact, I know I'm in a certain amount of danger. Any man in my position would be, especially in these perilous times. The world is full of fanatics and cranks."

"We feel that this is not a haphazard matter," said Nat quietly. "And we thought if you would tell us who is likely to hold a hatred against you, we might be able to help you."

"I appreciate your interest and the trouble you've taken," said Gordon. "But I feel quite safe. I assure you. I am thoroughly protected."

"So we noticed," said Nat dryly. "But nevertheless, we feel that you are in great danger, and we'd like—"

"It's very kind of you," said Gordon quickly. "I'm sure you're sincere. Your story has been extremely interesting. But—the fact is, I'm a rather hard-headed chap. I'm a realist, and pretty skeptical. I don't take much stock in 'psychic stuff'."

Tyler flushed. "My dear fellow," he expostulated, "this is not 'psychic stuff,' as you call it. A reputable psychiatrist assures us—"

"No offense intended," said Gordon. "Then you're not interested?" said Tyler a little stiffly.

"Of course I'm interested," said Gordon. "But I'm not disposed to go into a cold sweat, old man, merely because a slip of a girl reads my doom in the stars or something."

"You don't believe me?" said Ruth wonderingly.

"My dear child," Gordon protested. "I didn't say I didn't believe you. I'm sure of your perfect sincerity. But after all—"

"Dr. Karase accepts Ruth's power as a matter of fact," said Tyler a little impatiently. "He's a trained psychologist, and has heard of similar cases—"

"Psychology," said Gordon a trifle pontifically, "is not yet one of the

FEDERAL COURT MAT IS DUSTED

Prepare For Libel Suit Of Everett Marshall Against Magazine

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 30. They dusted off the mat in federal court today and got ready for Everett Marshall's $1,000,000 libel suit, second main event of the big-time wrestling show which has kept Judge Mell G. Underwood occupied almost since he assumed the bench a fortnight ago.

Judge Underwood, who last week heard the Dick Shikat-Joe Alvarez breach of wrestling contract suit, agreed to hear tomorrow arguments by attorneys for the Saturday Evening Post, named with six promoters as defendant in Marshall's suit.

Marshall, recognized in Colorado and Kentucky as the heavyweight champion, contends an article in the magazine last Dec. 14 damaged him to the extent of $1,000,000. The Post attorneys seek clarification of his complaint.

Defeated Leaders

The big blonde from Colorado asserted in his petition that he defeated the leading heavyweight wrestlers of the country but could not get a match with Danno O'Mahoney, champion recognized by the six defendant promoters.

These promoters he named as Jack Curley of New York, Paul Bowser of Boston, Ray Fabiani of Philadelphia, Ed White of Chicago, Joe (Toots) Mondt of Los Angeles, and Tom Packs of St. Louis. He alleged they were members of a profit-sharing group backing O'Mahoney, since beaten by the self-same Shikat who brought the same promoters into his federal court case last week.

Marshall said the Post's article on wrestling referred to Jim London as "the only major contender for the title" held by O'Mahoney, and that this and other remarks constituted libel.

The Shikat case, once postponed, is scheduled to come before Judge Underwood again May 12, with one or the other winning by a decision regarding the validity of a contract Alvarez says he holds with Shikat.

Set New Record In Diesel Test

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, April 30.—The racing world had a new record to aim at today in the 158.87 mile-an-hour mark set up Diesel-powered cars by Capt. George Eyston of London.

His record run—made after a sudden change in plans yesterday—was over a seven-mile section of the gleaming white salt track used last year by Sir Malcolm Campbell to shatter the 300-mile-an-hour mark for gasoline propelled machines.

The track was damp and sticky but solid. Three times the streamlined flying spray raced three miles over the marble-smooth track, went through the measured mile and then came to a stop three miles further on.

The first trial established a speed of 155.35 miles an hour; the second 158.87, and the third 153.74.

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Johnny Duca, 158, Paulsboro, N. J., stopped Jimmy Belmont, 157, Pittsburgh (5); Joe Duca, 159, outpointed Jim Baker, 161, Reading, Pa. (6); Mickey Duca, 129, outpointed Frankie Paul, 121, Philadelphia (6).

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

LOS ANGELES — King Faud, King of Egypt, dead, means nothing to 130,000,000 Americans or to fifteen hundred million other human beings on earth. It means much to England, real ruler of Egypt, now obliged to find another king to "behave himself, do as England says" and hold down Egypt's anti-British hatred.

A mob seized Lint Shaw, 50-year-old Negro, and lynched him on the "usual charge," not waiting for a trial.

Joe Bowers, sentenced to 25 years for mail robbery, locked in the island fortress of Alcatraz, tried to escape by climbing ten feet of plain wire, two feet of barbed wire, and jumping down a 60-foot cliff into the water. He climbed, while sharp-shooter guards pumped bullets into him, and jumped down the cliff. The jump broke his neck; bullets from guards would have killed him anyhow. Asked when "booked" at Alcatraz, "who is to be notified if you die," he replied, "Nobody; nobody cares whether I die or not."

Mrs. Grace Warren Dubois, 62 years old, was allowed to keep her seat while the judge sentenced her to life imprisonment for killing her son. Ordinarily convicts must stand for sentence.

It is said she thought her family "too aristocratic" to live in such times as these, and wished to kill them all. Another son testified against her.

Famine tightens its death grip on China, millions dead, more millions dying. That is a "short story" at the bottom of the page, and near by on the same page a few lines tell that three million dollars of John D. Rockefeller money have been given to the Memorial Hospital for the treatment of cancer.

Perhaps it is not a bad idea to let some individuals make money in order to do important things that the people do not do for themselves.

Experts that watch tremblings of the earth report two earthquakes of "more than moderate intensity." Something has slipped inside this rolling ball, about 1,800 miles southwest of New York City.

Hitler apparently has chosen his successor "in case" the person of Air Minister Goering, now made "assistant dictator" with control of two great German problems of raw materials and foreign exchange. In New York, 175 naval cadets from the German cruiser Emden, name well remembered from the war, explore the city guarded by detectives, in case of hostile demonstration.

Commercial boycotts of Germany, organized in New York have done more harm to the Nazi government than could be done by any mob attack on German cadets.

Paris perceives that following recent elections, extreme radicals will be powerful in the new Chamber, and those that have money left begin panicky selling. Bank of France shares drop violently, meaning lack of confidence in government stability, with fear of war in all minds.

The last war knocked the franc from 19 to four cents. What would another war do?

Keynoters Rehearse Addresses

Here are Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, left, keynoter of the Democratic convention at Philadelphia, and Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, right, who will sound the battle cry of Republicans when they convene in Cleveland, as the two read over rough drafts of their respective keynote speeches.

Salem Patrol Will Benefit From Modern Crime Bureau

District "B", With Headquarters at Massillon, To Install New Equipment, Identification Filing System

Embracing the latest methods of crime detection and criminal identification, a new department has been added to district B headquarters of the state highway patrol at Massillon of which the Salem sub-station is a part.

Including a "dark room" with all of the necessary materials for complete identification, the new work is expected to add even greater force to the adage—"crime doesn't pay."

The work was started three weeks ago by Lieut. U. C. Felty, often a visitor at the local barracks, and Patrolman H. W. Grosshaus, who studied details of the Salem post-office steps holdup here in November.

Controls Bureau

The latter is in direct control of operating the new bureau because he is the only state patrolman who has had extensive training for this type of work. He has taken courses in ballistics, microscopic work and handwriting from the International Criminology school at Seattle, Wash., and fingerprint training from the Institute of Applied Science at Chicago.

According to Grosshaus, a new system of identification is being used in filing fingerprints, the Beattley system. The local district is the third to adopt the plan. Others are in Washington and Cleveland.

Based on a new idea, said to be the basis for future work in fingerprint identification, only single fingerprints are taken. All old 10-fingerprint cards will be broken down into a single print classification, with a master file being planned for the Columbus headquarters.

An auto Grafex camera will be used in cooperation with county and police officers in the north-eastern section of Ohio. The camera will be available to photograph accidents, stolen cars and other necessary pictures.

Wholly apart from the criminal fingerprint department, the Salem state highway patrol maintains a fingerprint division for the matter of personal identification.

May Have Prints Taken

Persons desirous of having their fingerprints taken for permanent filing at Washington, D. C., as a precautionary measure may do so at any time by simply calling at the local barracks, 672 North Lincoln ave.

The fingerprints are placed on file at the department of justice headquarters, Washington, and never are used in connection with criminal cases. Salem officers will take the prints free of charge.

Another new departure from the normal police work is expected to start at the Massillon patrol headquarters within the next few weeks, as soon as equipment can be obtained.

This is Moulage work, described as being similar to the widely publicized "death masks," but which will make an exact duplicate of any object, imprint or person.

This material is a wax-like substance, much better than the plaster of paris death masks, and can be used to make imprints of marks, footprints, and faces of dead persons who must be buried before they are identified.

The barracks has on display a death mask of "Pretty Boy" Floyd made shortly after his death in southern Columbiana county. It is one of two in existence.
